According to Yulia, the world of interior design is moving towards the total customization of the project, she believes that each object must communicate with the others through sensorial, emotional and above all personal experiences.

Yulia takes particular care in the choice of materials, those that are certainly setting and will set the trend are the materials with a story to tell (stones, precious woods, glass), material finishes (special processes, coarse-grained fabrics). Through personalized processing her projects not only meet the taste of the client, but gets up to the experience and emotional sphere of the individual.

Research of prestigious materials, careful selection of finishes, development of mood boards and creation of photorealistic renderings; these are some of the tools they use for sharing projects with customers, who are actively involved in the design.

Silvana and Yulia, after having collected the requests and needs of the customers, develop the project, from the concept phase to the executive phase. All this is followed by the management of supplies, the layout of the engineering systems, the design of the furnishing, up to the artistic direction on site.
